The Russian Army of the Napoleonic Wars (1): Infantry 1799-1814: Infantry, 1798-1814 No.1 (Men-at-Arms) Philip Haythornthwaite

In 1795 the Russian army was as vast as the territory from which it was drawn. The College of War calculated that the regular army amounted to 541,741 men, plus 46,601 enrolled cossacks, and at least a further 100,000 irregular cavalry which could be mobilised in time of war. Inspired by the icons paraded by their priests before battle, the Russian infantry were capable of astonishing feats and total, blind obedience to orders. Philip Haythornthwaite examines the organisation and uniforms of the remarkable Russian infantry troops who fought in the Napoleonic Wars.
