Not illustrated. 1848 Excerpt: ...think of going to an obstetric case without our chloroform phial, as we would of going to bleed a patient without a lancet. In this quarter, doctors are only called in when things are going wrong, or in extreme cases; so that, since your grand discovery, he and I have only used it in about twenty-four cases, in all which it came up to all you have written about it,--no still-born children---mothers recovering well--fewer after-pains, &c. &c. One of my cases was a first child, the mother nearly forty-eight years of age, weakly in constitution, and of small formation. Had it not been for the chloroform, I do think she would have sunk.--Yours, &c. J. Grigor. Dr Dyce, lecturer on midwifery in Marischal-College, Aberdeen, favoured me some time ago with the following interesting communication, regarding the obstetric employment of chloroform:--I have reports from my friends Drs Harvey, Pirrie, and Gilchrist, all of whom, I was aware, had been employing it. I may at once state that I consider it a most invaluable agent;. that I have every confidence in its safety; that I recommend it almost on every occasion; that no evil consequences have ever attended its use; and that I have found its effects nearly alike in all. I have used it eleven times. The labours have, with one exception, been natural. The exception was a breech case, and a first child. Two of the eleven children were lost; one was putrid,.and in the other (the breech case), though the funis did pulsate for some minutes, the child could not be recovered. Dr Harvey has given me a brief account of four cases delivered under chloroform; all the children were born alive. Dr Gilchrist at Woodside writes me, " I. have observed no. evil results to the infants themselves from the use of chlorofo...
