Carrying the Chalice Forward and Other Secret Stories of North America Martin Carriere

Following the previously unsaid early histories of the forming of America and the modern re-emergence of the Metis as the inheritors of the true peace and power of the New World. The re-kindling of their age-old alliances with the Celtic lords of Ireland, Scotland, Normandy and elsewhere has brought forward an alternative - and, hopefully, less prejudiced view of the purpose and creation of the New World. This book offers an inside look, from an indigenous Metis perspective, of the old noble, sacred, holy and main indigenous families of the Americas and Europe in their little known agreements to travel, trade and share their new formed lives together in this wonderful land we call Creation. New understanding is gained from looking at the challenges currently facing all of humanity in our urgent need to balance the forces of nature against the greed of continual conquest and ongoing subjugation of the free peoples of the world. The interconnections of these families and the teachings of the Great Laws of Peace, as handed down through these indigenous teachers, are the true inheritance of the New World and are still readily available to all families alive today. The perseverance of the St.Clair, Jacobite, Lorraine and other bloodlines constantly overshadows the English and Vatican agendas showing plainly how the Metis have become the modern force to be reckoned with in restoring true peace and freedom to humanity.
